

For It's Intended Purposes in Alaska

Dear Tony and Brian,

I thought you might like this photo of Antipodes in the Tracy Arm in Alaska. The addition of the ballast that we did made a huge difference in the stability and handling of the boat.

I actually got caught crossing a bar in Oregon with 12'-14' breakers over the bar and the boat handled it with aplomb. It's at the point now where the boat will take more than I can!

This has been a wonderful trip and I wanted you to see a photo of the boat being used for its intended purpose!
